

Room 2116

written by Abhay Saxena

Krishna Bhawan 2116
9208322727 f20250743@pilani.bits-pilani.ac.in

INT. HOTEL HALLWAY - NIGHT

Dim. Silent. The wallpaper of the hallway is faded and peeling in various places. The moonlight shone through the Victorian windows. A low HUM from ancient light fixtures vibrates in the background. A digital clock in the hallway reads: 11:48 PM.

Mason (25), sharp, sadistic, and determined, wearing his grandfather's chain, and Katy (24), bright and a paranormal non-believer, stand in front of a door marked: ROOM 2116.

They swipe a vintage key card. The light turns GREEN.

The door CREAKS open by itself.

MASON
(Half jokingly)
Great. It's haunted already. Now, do you believe the story, Katy?

KATY
(Annoyed)
It's just some wind, Mason. Grow a pair.

They slowly move into the room and scan their surrounding.
Flash in hand and filming.

MASON
(quietly)
One guy bit off his fingers in this room. Another walked into traffic after an hour. Last person? Just vanished. Left the camera rolling.

As Mason explores the room, Katy pauses in front of the mirror and sees a ball of mist in the corner of the room in the mirror.

KATY
(To herself)
Wierd.....

The clock finally strikes midnight as the challenge begins. Mason and Katy are YouTubers who undertook the challenge of staying in the demented Room 2116. The room has already claimed many victims throughout the years, usually unsuspecting amateurs chasing fame.

They put down the camera on the table. The camera is still filming.

MASON

The place is bigger than I imagined. More refined, too. The place must have seen some things.

KATY

(still thinking about the fog in the corner)
Certainly seems like it. The place must be at least 100 years old and look like that, too.

A gust of wind blows through the open window, rattling the curtains and causing the camera to fall.

MASON

(startled)
Shit! Was that open when we entered?

Mason moves towards the window and closes it, but sees mysterious figures staring from the shadows in the alley nearby.

Just then, a knock appears on the door.

MASON (CONT'D)

(extremely scared)
Who could it be at this time? Katy, could u open the door and see who it is?

KATY

(already moving towards the door)
Sure..

Katy opens the door only to find the corridor empty.

KATY (CONT'D)

That was weird. Mason, there is no one at the door. The corridor is empty. Must be some kids playing ding dong ditch. Are u alright?

Mason, who is still shocked by what he witnessed

MASON

(Barely listening)
Yeah, I am alright. Just saw something outside. Did you find out who was at the door?

KATY

(clearly annoyed)

Are you even listening to what I am saying? I just told you no one was there at the door. I think we should unpack and rest for the night.

MASON

Yeah, I also think we should.

They unpacked their belongings and rested for the night. As the clock hits 3 am, they are startled awake by a loud thud.

MASON (CONT'D)

(startled)

What was that?

KATY

(looking around nervously)

Did something fall?

A second THUD. This one is closer. The camera on the table starts to GLITCH, static flickering across its viewfinder.

MASON

(whispering)

It came from the bathroom.

He grabs his flashlight and slowly creeps toward the bathroom door. Katy follows, reluctantly. The handle TREMBLES on its own before Mason even touches it.

KATY

(terrified)

Don't. Just leave it shut.

Mason ignores her, gripping the handle. He yanks it open.

INT. BATHROOM - CONTINUOUS

The bathroom is empty. The mirror above the sink, however, is FOGGED. Letters slowly carve themselves across the glass:

"STAY FOREVER."

MASON

(smirking)

Now that is something people subscribe to.

Suddenly, the light bulb above the mirror exploded, plunging them into utter darkness. Mason quickly slams the door shut.

INT. ROOM 2116 - CONTINUOUS

The CAMERA, still recording, points at the bed. The mist Katy saw earlier now SWIRLS, slowly taking a humanoid shape in the corner.

KATY
(low voice and shaking)
Mason...look.

The mist figure LURCHES forward. Mason stumbles back. The figure SHRIEKS in an otherworldly tone, the sound of many voices layered on top of each other.

The DIGITAL CLOCK on the nightstand FLICKERS violently, digits spinning until it FREEZES on 3:33 AM.

MASON
(terrified and whimpering)
We... we should not have come here.

KATY
Then let's get the hell out!

Katy grabs Mason's hand and then dashes towards the door. Mason fumbles with the handle, but it won't BUDGE. Locked from the outside.

Behind them, the mist-figure crawls closer, its limbs bending in unnatural angles.

MASON
(Screaming)
It won't opennnn..

KATY
(crying)
Open it. Open it. Please open it.

The chain around Mason's neck is suddenly yanked backwards, choking Mason in the process.

KATY (CONT'D)
(breathing heavily) Masonnnnnnn.....

Katy tries to free Mason. His face is turning pale, veins darkening. He drops to his knees, eyes rolling back.

The CAMERA, still rolling, zooms slightly on its own. Focuses.

Katy screams. The shadowy figure lunges forward. Engulfing Mason's body. Mason screams for the last time.

Katy stumbles back. And tries to open the door again, but it won't budge. She starts to sob.

KATY (CONT'D)
(sobbing)
Please... please let me go...

The mist stops.

Katy feels a sense of relief, but suddenly a letter appears on the mirror

STAY

And suddenly Katy's face is grabbed, two hands protruding from the wall. Katy screams.

Camera glitches to black.

INT. HOTEL HALLWAY - CONTINUOUS

Katy's scream echoes through the hall but no one listens

INT. HOTEL HALLWAY - MORNING

A maid pushes a cart down the hallway. She stops at Room 2116. The door is slightly ajar.

She nudges it open with her cart - the room is immaculate. No sign of Mason. No sign of Katy. The bed is neatly made.

The DIGITAL CLOCK reads 11:48 PM.

The CAMERA sits perfectly on the table, red light still blinking.

FADE OUT

TITLE CARD:

Another upload from Room 2116 never saw the light of day.