

1. SCENE: PRINCIPAL OFFICE, LA MARTIN SCHOOL.

Old woman with tiny specs is sittin on the chair behind the desk. Another woman is standing in front of her.

SUCHITA

This isnt the first offence madam!
You know just as well as I do, if this was anyone else they'd have been kicked out by now.

Suchita is walking side to side slowly.

JAYANTI

I understand your concern, but you musn't rush into things like rustication. Its just a fight.
Children fight.

She chuckles. It sounds fake.

She gets off the chair and escorts the counsellor out of her office.

Look, I get that you don't get a lot of interesting work around here. You can go have a crack at it if you want. But don't be throwing around words like 'rusticate' lightly.

Suchita walks out. Looks disappointed with her head down.

2. SCENE: NURSE'S OFFICE.

KABIR

Don't pick fights you know you can't win little man. You won't get a soft ass sofa to recover everytime.

He says as he wipes blood off his knuckles on his jeans. He says little man in a mocking tone. But stil a cold stare overall.

No response.

Nurse tries to touch the boy.

NURSE

You take your hand off it. If i dont apply the ointment the scar will remain.

Sounds agitated because she has been visible trying to get his hand off for a few minutes in the scene.

RAHUL

Let it be. It'll remind me to hit harder next time.

The boy says while spitting out a bit of blood. Suchita walks in.

SUCHITA

You might own half the town, but that doesn't give you the right to spit in it.

The boys look up to see the school counsellor. They look annoyed.

KABIR

USED TO OWN you mean.

He chuckles.

As of today morning he owns nothing. Zilch. Nada. And its best if he remembers that.

Looks specifcally at rahul.

You would've hit harder if you cared a bit less if your lv boots and your lauren tee get ripped. Sometimes you can be a 'bad boy' and not listen to mommy.

Rahul jumps out of his seat and balls a fist. He pulls it back and aims it square onto kabir's face.

He hears the words 'have some decency. Know your standard' in a female voice. Stops mid punch. Corrects his tshirt collar, wipes some blood off his lip an sits back down with his legs respectfully crossed.

RAHUL

You'd have felt my hit harder if you didnt have a wall of your sidekick goons between us. Fucking coward.

Kabir puts his hand to his chest and makes the fake ohh/offended expression.

KABIR

Its called having friends you weirdo. I know its an alien word for you, but some of us do have friends.

SUCHITA

You know i think you should talk more.

(MORE)

SUCHITA (CONT'D)

What youre doing right now is fine, but just a little more talking and less squabbling.

She interjects. Gets ignored.

KABIR

What use is daddy's money if you cant even find yourself a friend?

RAHUL

Atleast I dont go out surrounding myself with rando clout chasers to convince myself i have friends.

Kabir stands up. Rahul does too.

SUCHITA

OkAY OKAY OKAY OKAY.

Walks in between them.

Hold your horses we don't want this to end in the hospital. If whatever you're spouting at each other is true then your problem isnt the existence of teeth in each others faces.

She is trying to contain her chuckle on her little joke. (she found something she can actually help with)

Talk to me. Thats literally my job.

RAHUL

I dont need a shrink just cause im pissed at this luny. If anything take him away, have your 2 hours with him. Maybe you can knock some manners into him.

He sits back down, pulls his phone out and checks his face in the camera. Pulls out a hanky with some blood on the corner and wipes whatever dirt remained on his face.

Actually you know what i actually do want that ointment please. Thank you

He says looking at the nurse. Suchita looks at kabir. He looks spaced out.

KABIR

Dont stare at me! Im not crazy. Go meddle with other kids. I'm out of your little jurisdiction.

He sits back down. Shows the middle finger to Rahul and pulls his phone out. He's now invested in his phone.

Suchita walks past the boys looking defeated.

SUCHITA
Honestly, there wasn't this much bickering during my divorce hearing, and he frickin' cheated on me!

She whispers to the nurse as she walks out of the medical room.

3. SCENE: PRINCIPAL'S OFFICE AGAIN.

JAYANTI
Are you kidding me? What is your problem you my lord. Why the hell would you call their parents?

The principal looks agitated now. She is pacing up and down her office.

SUCHITA
The whole point of my job is to make children feel heard and understood. I don't think rich kids are emotionless.

The principal grabs Suchita by the shoulders.

JAYANTI
No, they're not. But our school needs donations. Rich people don't like to be bothered especially when they're as busy as their parents.

Suchita removes the hands on her.

SUCHITA
They might be busy, but in these situations, parents help a lot.
Trust me I've been doing this for over a decade now. I know how to handle it.

The principal grabs her head.

JAYANTI
You haven't been doing THIS for over a decade. I have! I have taught their parents back in the day. I know these people. You are new here. There's history here older than just these two kids.

Their conversation is interrupted by the sound of a rumbling engine.

JAYANTI

There you go. Its Mrs. Dixit. The same sound. Everytime she comes. Honestly i get kinda scared. That woman is chilling.

They rush to the campus gate. Right behind the black mustang of Mrs Dixit (rahul's mom) was the silent Maybach of Mr. Soni.(kabir's dad)

They stepped out simultaneously. Exchanged a glance. Mrs. Dixit has an expression of mild disgust. Soni frowns a bit. Neither say a word. They turn away.

They walk in.

JAYANTI

Hello madam, hellow sir! So sorry to disturb you during the day at this inconvenient hour.

MRS. DIXIT

Just tell me what that idiot did. I dont have time for pointless formalities.

SUCHITA

Actually he got into a fist fight with.

She looks at Mr. Soni.
Kabir.

MR. SONI.

Are they fine? Is there any major injury?

They are escorted into the medical room where the boys are seated. A glare from Mrs. Dixit makes Rahul sit up straight and cross his legs tighter than they were before.

KABIR

Why are YOU here? Mr. Soni dont you have some 'important business matter' to attend to?

Soni looks at his son. He doesnt manage a word. Turns towards the principal.

MR. SONI

Please tell us what happened, how did they end up like this?

MRS. DIXIT

And make it quick.

(to be continued)